I think every problem presents an opportunity. I find that I thrive in an environment that is challenging and am always eager to find solutions to the most complex and vexing problems. I have a simple method that has worked throughout my career. That method is to; ask a lot of questions. My friends tell me that I am very practical, engaging and thoughtful. I am driven by the need to make a difference in the world. My compass is simple, do the right and before you make a decision consider the moral, ethical and legal ramifications.

I have a wife who teaches Zumba and two wonderful kids. This is what I believe they would say about me; Daddy likes process and believes there should be an order to how we do most things. He believes that you fail when you don't plan. I love to plan and if elected I will apply what I have learned over the years in operational risk and compliance to help the board meet its objective. At work, I am responsible for the governance and monitoring of the different legal entities within my business.

I hold advanced degrees in management and financial economics from Harvard University Ext. and Boston university. I am skilled at identifying unique opportunities and executing on growth strategies to achieve key business objectives. I have a strong network in the business sector in the US and Nigeria. I will tap my network and engage our alumni community to do good. I am a Fellow at the "Partnership Inc." Boston and on the Board of the Center for Health & Learning (CHL) located in Vermont.
