Robert Tolu presently serves as Finance Director for Education Development Center; a large non-profit located in Waltham, MA and serves as Treasurer on the board of North Shore Community Health Center. He started with EDC shortly after leaving Harvard as an employee and student. Robert has over 15 years of experience managing finances related to non-profit organizations with a strong understanding of all relevant regulations such as GAAP, OMB, CFR, FAR, etc. He also has extensive experience in developing policy, processes, and systems to ensure smooth operating.

Robert enjoyed his time at Harvard as it was one of the most fulfilling of his life. Harvard teaches students to innovate rather than regurgitate. Robert has brought this approach to his professional life and has yielded real results including building entire systems from scratch. Harvard has given him so much that he wishes to give back and help ensure future graduates find success. It is one thing to learn in the classroom, but quite another to take what you've learned and apply it. The world offers so much and Robert's goal is to ensure future graduates make an impact by passing along what he has learned since graduating from Harvard.
